“ At long last I say thank you to the McIntyre Family for sharing their Dad (and Mom) with my family. It was an honour and a privilege to have them be a part of our life. Our folks shared many lunches together and many fun times with their endless volunteering hours at different Bowness functions. They were good friends, and for that I am most grateful.

The Celebration of Life for Charlie was superb. You sent your Dad off with great respect and class, which he so deserved. Wishing Vida and the family well.

Sincerely,
Susan MacDonell (Bev and Lonnie Anderson's daughter)

“ My condolences to all of Charlie's family. I met Charlie years ago when we both were learning to play an instrument in a Westwinds band. Living in the same area of the city we shared the driving to band practice and I enjoyed the company of Charlie immensely on those drives. Charlie struck me as a very kind and compassionate human being and a true gentleman.

“ Charlie

Imagine taking up the saxophone as a septuagenarian. Charlie did. Imagine having a 63rd wedding anniversary. Charlie and Vida did. Think about the idea that a 95 year old man could have fans and friends spanning three generations. Again, Charlie did. Seldom can one find a person who so happily addressed everything Canada has to offer, everything his wonderful wife has to offer, and everything his astounding family has to offer. In a time when many of us are consumed with our petty tribulations, Charlie seemed somehow above these issues. He saw where we are and what we do and was delighted just to be here. We can all learn from his examples while we remember his special strengths.

God bless you Charlie.

Thank you.

“ He lived quietly, he lived fully, he saw war and peacekeeping firsthand. He was a son, a brother, a husband, a father, a grandfather, a great grandfather, a choir member, a Mason, a friend, a curler, a golfer but above all Charlie was a true gentleman. He treated all kindly and with compassion. Charlie and Vida raised a family to be proud of and they in turn have done the same with their families, what better legacy to leave. Gone home.

“ Uncle Charlie was a good man; to me he was a great man.

Quiet and calm most of the time and completely dedicated to his family, he was always interested in and supportive of others.

He was a man who lived with great devotion.

Honour and integrity were his hallmarks, and in these he walked the talk.

Totally committed to his family and community, he took the long-term view - steady on the helm and stay the course.

Charley loved family stories, and especially the funny ones. I was lucky to have spent quite a few evenings with him re-connecting the dots on family history and hilarious antics, usually followed by aching belly-laughs.

He was a role model for me; I learned much about how to live life through his excellent examples in deed, but seldom in word - he didn't preach, he showed me how.

Thank you, Uncle.

I miss you, I will remember you and all you have given me.

"A good life, and well-lived"
