“ I am so very saddened to learn of Jocelyns passing. We met at Costco many moons ago and it was easy to become friends. She was so bright, so caring, a great smile and the cutest squeels/giggle/laugh. We should have seen each other more which is a hard lesson, but our long text conversations were like no time had past. We bonded over a deep love of Christmas, cats/animals, and all things art and craftsthe hobbie of collecting crafts ;). She was loyal and caring and encouraging. Endlessly thoughtful. My heart goes out to Kenny, her family and friends, and her precious furbabies who will all miss her greatly. Hugs for you all cause she was a great hugger.

“Jocelyn, im not supposed to be writing this because you should be here. But your not. My phone is so quiet now. I have known you since I was 16 years old. You have always been the most wonderful, sincere, honest and genuine person I have ever met. Thank you so much for being that bright light you are. Your radiant smile and adorable personality. Truly one of a kind. That is what makes you so uniquely you.

Everyday is so hard. I go to pick up my phone to text and then put it back down and remember the last 3 months. Everything went so fast. Im so glad we had an amazing visit in June. Those 4 days were so much fun, watching shark movies and reminiscing and doing my first real paint pour with your guidance. We have so much in common. Our passion for art is profound. Im so glad that we shared our love of arting. Just a tiny bit obsessed with paint pouring now. I absolutely love it because I instantly think of you. My beautiful bestie 💕

I wear the jewelry you made everyday because it feels like I have a piece of you with me. Its just so hard because you were going to move here. We were gonna have everyday together to art and craft and play the longest game of canastan....life will not be the same, it hasn't. Its weird, its going to take a long time to adjust to this. I do plan on advocating for you, in honor of you. Just have to put all the pieces together.

Thank you Jocelyn for being my friend. For being the one friend I could always count on. Love you bunches 🍇 like bunches and bunches. There is a special piece of my heart dedicated to you. May you rest peacefully my beautiful Jocelyn 🙏❤️🍇

“ Precious Jocelyn, from the moment we met, we had an unbreakable connection, a bond that time and distance couldn't break. No matter how much time passed, we always effortlessly picked up where we left off, a testament to the transformative power of our friendship. Oh, how I wish I could hold your hand one more time, if only for a moment, to remind you of the profound love and inspiration you embodied. Our last visit was truly special and has become even more poignant, a celebration of our unbreakable bond.

Though I wasn't totally prepared for your departure, I'm grateful for the incredible visit we shared, filled with laughter, tears, and reminiscing about old times, that will continue to inspire me. I love you unconditionally and will miss you forever. Thank you for being an extraordinary friend for so many years. Until we meet again, you will remain safely in my heart, a shining star that guides me forward. To Kenny, your father, family, friends, your pets especially your precious Ruby, I am so saddened for their loss. I pray that they find comfort in the memories we shared with you, and that your love and legacy continue to inspire them.

I know in my heart you are now basking in sunshine and joy with your momma, and you are in the most loving, capable hands.
